Most of this information is readily obtained from the aforementioned forms of identification.

Additionally, an earnest attempt should be made to express gratitude to the flight crew at the completion of the flight if possible.
- Domestic Flights: OAL pilots should proceed to the gate and request the jumpseat for domestic flights. The agent will enter the pilot into the system, and if all cabin seats are full, a CASS authorization will be obtained for cockpit jumpseat access. They will take all your information over the phone, including your credit card number, and will provide you a record locator number which you then use to check-in in person (not at a kiosk). You can call and list for same-day travel as long as your flight is not too early in the morning. They prefer you call to list the day before if possible.
